I'm writing today to reconsider Bill 11 with a "no" vote. As someone who lives and works in Kailua, we all know how busy it is with both tourists and residents. However, we all know that this town is built on small family businesses despite what it looks like as of late. I think working with the broader community to deal with this issue and find a workable, win-win solution is something to consider. I believe bill 11 is too much of a quick reaction to a few that are afraid of the way Kailua is changing. Shutting down all activities appears very much like a solution born out of hysteria by a few, these problems, real or perceived, let's work together to find a better solution.

Thanks for your consideration.
